MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director of Central Intelligence

FROM: William W. Wells
Deputy Director for Operations

SUBJECT: Assignment of a Senior Review Officer

1. Approval is requested for the assignment of [redacted] to my staff as a Senior Review Officer. He will serve in that capacity for approximately one year. I plan to expand this unit to three as soon as suitable nominees can be identified.

2. The Senior Review Officers will be men of extensive experience in operations and command, both at Headquarters and in the Field. Their primary responsibility will be to assist me in the resolution of problems that would normally command my attention. They will serve as my personal representatives, and through close and continuing contact with me and the ADDO, they will be attuned to the concerns and sensitivities of this office. They will work closely with the Division Chiefs and will aid them in dealing with specific problems of operations and management. They will travel to the Field whenever necessary and deal directly through the Station Chiefs, making recommendations to me if appropriate.

3. It is not my intent to have the Senior Review Officers interrupt or in any way inhibit the chain of command. On the contrary, I hope to make the chain of command work more effectively through selective utilization of the Senior Review Officers. Nor will the Senior Review Officers assume the role of an Inspector General. I expect that by virtue of their experience, seniority, and recognized status in the Clandestine Service, the Review Officers will be able to deal smoothly at all levels of the Directorate. I visualize them serving not only as problem solvers, but likewise as catalysts facilitating the interchange of ideas between me and the Directorate at large.

4. Lastly, I propose to draw upon the Senior Review Officers for assistance in evaluating the performance of the Directorate in its assigned tasks and in the management of resources. They will not supplant our established components which now conduct scheduled performance evaluations, but I expect to derive substantial advantage from their detached overview and balanced judgment regarding the manner in which we are coping with the issues and problems of these rapidly changing times. This in turn will permit me to draw upon the Senior Review Officers in charting the Directorate's course and pattern of development in the years ahead. I believe the value thus derived from their presence and participation in the business of this office will justify the commitment of three of our most senior and experienced men.

The attached recommendation was forwarded to us for review. Upon receipt, a representative of our Position Management and Compensation Division conducted a review of the proper grade level for the proposed Senior Review Officers. In turn, we have met with the DDO to discuss our views.

Since the proposed positions are experimental, with duties in an evolutionary state, the DDO accepted our recommendation that the positions be set up as GS-17, subject to review by PMCD within three to six months.

On this basis, we can recommend DDCI approval.
